Toll collection on Nanjangud Highway from October end

- Toll to be levied for 3 months by a Hyderabad-based agency on experimental basis
- 129.8 km National Highway-766 from Kollegal to Sultan Batheri to be a fully tolled Road

A view of the Toll Plaza on Nanjangud Highway this morning.

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (RK&BCT)- Get ready to pay if you want to travel to Nanjangud via National Highway-212 (now renamed as NH-766) from this month end as the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has decided to levy toll on the stretch from Kollegal to Sulthan Batheri in Kerala via Nanjangud. The toll charge, however, has not been decided yet.

The NHAI has built the Highway with Private-Public-Partnership (PPP) model and had even constructed toll booths at various places. So far no toll was being levied from travellers and the toll booths were closed and were in an abandoned state.

The Highway was constructed over three-and-a-half years back and the "Defect Liability Period" given to the contractor to rectify the broken and damaged stretches has also ended now. From October-end, toll will be levied and Nanjangud has been chosen as the first toll booth.

Ayodhya case hearing to end at 5 pm today

Enough is enough, says Chief Justice

CJI Ranjan Gogoi

Supreme Court

New Delhi, Oct. 16- Daily hearings in the politically sensitive Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid land dispute in Ayodhya will end today at 5 pm, Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi said. "We will rise by 5 pm, enough is enough," Gogoi said after a lawyer asked the Supreme Court for more time for arguments.

The Court is expected to announce a verdict in the 134-year-old title suit before the Chief Justice retires on Nov. 17.

A five-judge Constitution Bench headed by Ranjan Gogoi said that it is hearing the Ayodhya land dispute case for the last 39 days and no more time beyond today. The Bench also comprises Justices S.A. Bobde, D.Y. Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S.A. Nazeer.

Mediation panel report

Meanwhile, the SC-appointed mediation panel submitted its report in the Apex Court. Sources close to the mediation panel said the broad settlement was to allow Hindus to construct Ram Temple at the disputed site but adequate land to Muslims for construction of a mosque at State expenses.

Yesterday, Hindu parties pleaded with the Supreme Court to "correct a historical wrong" committed by Mughal invader Babur by erecting a mosque at the birthplace of Lord Ram.

Appearing for Hindu parties, former Attorney General K. Parasaran told the Bench Hindu kings never went beyond the boundaries of India to invade foreign lands but India suffered multiple invasions.

Judges threaten walkout

There were dramatic moments as a senior lawyer tore up a map, infuriating the judges. Rajeev Dhavan, representing the Muslim Waqf Board in the title suit, tore up a pictorial map showing the Ram Janmasthan.

Prudence with public funds

Splurging public funds by the Governments of the day both at the Centre and in the States across the country seems to have not been bestowed the concern that is imperative for all time, especially so in the present situation of rising fiscal deficit (reflecting the amount of cash that the Government owes to its creditors, majority of whom are citizen who have deposited money in banks and other financial institutions such as Credit Co-operative Societies) as well as current account deficit (reflecting the yawning gap between earnings through exports from the country and import bill). India's ancient economist and royal advisor Vishnugupta (371 BC - 283 BC), also known by the names Chanakya (with nickname Indian Machiavelli, the Italian strategist) and Kautilya, as the author of the treatise Arthashastra is credited with laying down the ground rules of managing public funds, a major part of the task of governing the land and its people for economic stability and social harmony to ensure prosperity of the land.

Our ancestors are often invoked by their present day cohorts, the elders in society, by referring to their principle of keeping a close vigil on spending money earned by honest means, avoiding extravagance, the behaviour of spending more money than one needs to. That principle doesn't seem to have many takers in the matter of managing both public funds by Governments and personal earnings by people at large.

Wisdom in being frugal with family income on the part of households seems to have been thrown to winds, given the land's people at large missing the discretion between necessities of life and luxury. On the part of Governments, there is a time for austerity in order to minimise deficit and keep the treasury jingling with ready cash to meet both contingencies and requirements of the multitude of pro-people programmes and new measures for welfare of people, not to forget the last citizen. As a seasoned analyst of the errant behaviour of Governments has rightly observed, if the reason for downturn in the economy is the runaway spending in periods of high growth, the antidote ought to be a tight curb in Government expenditure, which is what prudence is all about.

Even as the country is passing through a phase of economy slowdown, some economists have recently suggested increasing public expenditure through deficit financing, on the premise that it would enhance purchasing power of consumers bolstering growth. The suggestion of increasing public expenditure unarguably militates against prudence in the matter of managing public funds.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Passports are a hateful token of the politicisation of a fractured world, symbolising the elevation of petty national sovereignty above universalism that explains Brexit. There's a sense of utter finality, too, about the booklet I have just collected from India House in London for it will in all probability be my last passport. In the bad old days before Maneka Gandhi's plea established a citizen's right to a passport, successive passport officers in India made one feel like a grovelling applicant for illicit favours. My financial, educational, political, professional and social credentials would be scrutinised before deciding if I was a fit person for the President of the Republic of India to accept responsibility for me. *— Sunanda K. Reflections in eyes help fan track pop star

Tokyo: Japanese Police have arrested a man suspected of assaulting a young pop star he was obsessed with, after allegedly figuring out where she lives by analysing her social media photos, specifically the reflections in her pupils.

Hibiki Sato, a 26-year-old unemployed man from Saitama, a city north of Tokyo, has been arrested for allegedly attacking Ena Matsuoka, a 21-year-old pop singer with the group Tenshi Tsukinukeni Yomi. It is believed Sato was able to track the area of where Matsuoka lived by going through her social media profiles, enlarging her photos and analysing the reflections in her pupils.

He was thus able to recognise some Tokyo scenery and a bus stop, which he then located using Google Street view. Some sources claim that the alleged stalker had even approximated the storey Matsuoka lived based on the windows and the angle that sunlight hit her eyes.

Sneakers with "Holy Water" sold out

New York: A limited edition Nike Air Max 97 sneaker with its transparent sole filled with "holy water" from the Jordan River sold out within minutes of its official release, despite a prohibitive price tag of $3,000 per pair.

Officially named "MSCHF x INRI Jesus Shoes", the white sneakers had their soles injected with 60 ccs of water from the Jordan River and were allegedly blessed by a priest. It's been reported that although the limited edition footwear was designed from the all-white Nike Air Max 97s, Nike itself is not affiliated with this project.

MSCHF are said to have bought the Nike sneakers at retail value and then applied their original design ideas to create a metaphor of "walking on water".

The tongue-in-cheek nature of the project didn't stop people from snatching up the shoes within minutes of their launch.

Dasara Procession, Torchlight Parade marred by maladministration

Sir,

There was total maladministration in the just-concluded Dasara Procession and Torchlight Parade. The announcement of issuance of tickets was made a few days after Dasara started. I smell a big racket here. Initially the announcement was for issuance of online tickets. Almost immediately, "Tickets Sold Out" message was conveyed to whoever tried to book online.

Following a huge public outcry and news reports, an announcement was made that tickets would be issued at Room No.21 at D's Office. When I visited the said room a couple of times nobody was aware when the counter would be opened and literally the room was locked. After considerable efforts and hours of waiting without food or water, I could manage three tickets of Rs.500 each for Dasara Procession and two tickets of Rs. 250 each for the Torchlight Parade.

When my family and I reached Gate No.2 of Jayamarthanda Gate of Mysore Palace, we were denied entry by Policemen stating that they have instructions from authorities to do so. In spite of having valid tickets, we were denied entry and had to return home without watching the grand event.

Hope the DC will pursue this and ensure refund of money for valid ticket-holders who were denied entry to witness the procession. It is sad that the authorities just collected money without ensuring that all valid ticket-holders are given a chance to witness the event.

Next, two of my family members went to see the Torchlight Parade with valid tickets and drinking water bottles and eatables. They were told that food and water were not allowed inside. They had to leave food and water inside their car to gain entry. Shockingly, there was no arrangement to buy drinking water and eatables inside.

However, as the Parade progressed, our relatives saw many people holding water bottles and food packets. This could be seen in live TV telecast in all channels. How such persons were allowed inside is anybody's guess. That means, only the influential could take water and food inside while the same courtesy was not extended to common man.

I request our DC and his team to seriously view these lapses.

State to get exclusive Anti Terrorism Squad

First ATS Police Station to be opened in Bengaluru on Nov.1

Basavaraj Bommai

Bengaluru, Oct.16- Karnataka will soon have an exclusive Anti Terrorism Squad (ATS) to curb terror activities in Bengaluru and throughout the State, said Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai yesterday.

Addressing media persons after a review meeting with senior Police officers at Bengaluru City Police Commissioner's office, Bommai said that the decision has been taken after National Investigation Agency (NIA) suspected the presence of at least 20 to 22 terror hideouts belonging to Bangladeshi terror group Jamat-ul-Mujahideen Bangladesh (JMB) in Bengaluru and parts of Tamil Nadu and Kerala.

"There are anti-terrorism squads in Chennai, Mumbai and Delhi. Similar squads would be set up in Karnataka and officers who have worked on terrorism-related cases would be deployed. The first ATS Police Station will be opened in Bengaluru on Nov.1 this year," he said.

Meanwhile, the State Government has instructed Police officials, especially in urban and coastal areas to be on high alert. Last Monday, NIA Inspector General Alok Mittal had announced that JMB, which had planned to spread its tentacles across India, especially in South India, had conducted a trial of rocket launchers in the Krishnagiri hills along the Karnataka-Tamil Nadu border.

NIA had also shared a list of 125 terror suspects who allegedly had close links with JMB, which has spread its activities in Jharkhand, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Kerala and Bihar in the guise of Bangladeshi immigrants.

"Over 36 percent of total crime reported in the State was from Bengaluru and in an effort to curb terror activities, we have decided to set up ATS for which Finance Department has already given approval," said Bommai.

ATS would work in tandem with NIA, he said and added that extra precautionary measures would be taken in secluded places prone to such activities. Bommai said security would be tightened in high-density areas like bus stands, malls, Railway Stations and markets.

The State Government has also decided to set up eight Cyber Crime-Economic Offences and Narcotics (CEN) Police Stations for which funds have already been sanctioned. Separate officials will be appointed to handle cases reported in CEN Police Stations.

From Nagarahole to Bandipur

T-18's 80-km journey

Mysuru, Oct.16 (MTY&BCT)- The tiger that was tranquillised and captured near Bandipur Tiger Reserve on Sunday is under close observation at the Chamundi Rescue and Rehabilitation Centre set up by Mysuru Zoo at Koorgalli on the outskirts of Mysuru. The middle-aged tiger is in a healthy condition, Forest Department officials said.

In a massive hunting operation lasting five days, the tiger was traced and captured on Sunday in the forest with the help of Soliga tribals, who are experts in hunting wild animals on foot.

The tiger remained elusive since Oct.9 after claiming farmer Shivappa as its second victim a day earlier and a month after mauling Shivamadaiah, another farmer to death inside the forest. It had also killed 14 cattle heads during the last two months.

The first image of the tiger captured by Jeevan Chandrashekar in Antharasanthe Range in 2017.

From Nagarahole to Bandipur

Tracking the footprints of the big cat, officials and experts said that it was identified in Nagarahole a year ago. The tiger, in the last one year, had been wandering in search of territory through several forest ranges and ended up in the buffer area of Gopalaswamy Betta Range in Bandipur.

Thanks to the ever-vigilant Forest Department when it comes to tiger population, the number of big cats is increasing as the animals are finding new territories. Tight curbs on poaching have also contributed to the population increase.

The captured big cat was previously camera-trapped in Nagarahole Tiger Reserve near Dammanakatte (Kabini) in Antharasanthe Range and it was named "T-18." It was first photographed in 2017 in Antharasanthe Range. The tiger was first photographed by Jeevan Chandrashekar at Dammanakatte while it was drinking water at Nayanjikere.

80-kilometre journey

The tiger was spotted at Moolehole Range of Bandipur Tiger Reserve in December 2018. In about a year's time, the tiger had walked about 80 km from Nagarahole National Park to Bandipur Tiger Reserve in search of territory. Forest officials said the tiger was looking for a new territory and food. The feline was pushed out of every place by other tigers and had made the border of Gopalaswamy Betta Range, near Maguvinahalli and Hundipura villages its territory.

Five tigers in region

There are over five tigers in Chowdahalli, Hundipura, Mangala and surrounding areas and this information was relayed by villagers to the Forest Department.

Among the five tigers, one was killed recently near Melukamanahalli by a speeding vehicle in the vicinity of Jungle Lodges and Resorts. Fearing repercussions, the inmates of the vehicle had dragged the dead tiger's body and had dumped it near a compound before fleeing the spot.

"T-18" emerges

In their efforts to identify the killer tiger among the four tigers, Forest Department officials and authorities from National Tiger Conservation Authority (NCTA) scanned the visuals of more than 200 cameras placed in the border areas. Matching the features in their database, they were surprised to see the same "T-18" in Bandipur.

Officials matched the features and realised that the tiger had travelled over 80 kilometres in search of territory. Males usually occupy territory and will not allow other males to enter its domain. In case any male enters, there will be territorial fights and there are instances of dominant male killing the fellow male and occupying the territory.

Safe place to hunt

This particular tiger is a sub-adult and did not possess the strength or skill to defeat a huge dominant male. It was buying time and was in search of a safe place to hunt and mate. It had chosen a buffer zone between Bandipur and Nagarahole National Parks.

A buffer zone is a place that links the territory of two tigers and this place is generally not occupied by another tiger. However, the captured tiger had chosen this buffer zone, officials said.

In its path, the tiger took the Kabini backwaters, Nugu Dam, National Highway 212 (now 766), Gopalaswamy Hill and Melukamanahalli. It had taken refuge at places including abandoned buildings, fields of farmers and places that are filled with wild grass and bushes. It used to get easy prey as cattle used to frequent the fields.

Both Shivappa and Shivamadaiah were cowherds and the "T-18" would have killed them either due to fear or hunger, officials said. Banking on cattle and human beings, the tiger had made the forest fringes its territory, officials said.

Time to settle down

Meanwhile, officials said that they are giving time to let the tiger settle down in a holding room at Chamundi Rescue and Rehabilitation Centre.

The feline will be subjected to a thorough veterinary medical check-up once it settles down.

They said that wild animals are not handled immediately, and it is only after they settle down, their weight, height and other indicators are measured. The settling down time varies from animal to animal as some take 4-5 days to become normal.

The tiger is fed beef once a day and offered water. No medicines are given as it has no internal or external injuries though it was hit twice with a dart to tranquillise it for capturing, officials added.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka talks about the laws relating to cruelty on a pet by the owner, feeding street animals, etc.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Should I report cruelty on a pet by the owner?

Yes, it must be reported. As per the law, neglecting an animal by denying sufficient food, water, shelter and exercise or keeping them chained/ confined for long hours is punishable by a fine, or imprisonment, or both under section 11(1)(h), PCA Act,1960. Most criminal law officers and psychologists have found that someone who is cruel to animals is a danger to society and is likely to commit crimes on humans. Therefore, it is important to expose them immediately.

What is the legal right of an animal abandoned by its owners?

Abandoning any animal for any reason can land you in prison for up to 3 months, under section 11(1)(i) and section 11(1)(j), PCA Act, 1960. If diseased or injured, the animal must be taken to a vet or animal shelter and it must come back to the owner. An owner who wants to get rid of his pet should look for adopters rather than being cruel and vicious.

Are there laws regarding feeding street animals?

The Delhi High Court states that there are no laws that prohibit people from feeding stray animals. It is lawful and helps the animals. The Animal Welfare Board of India issues IDs for people who feed stray animals. These IDs help people who want to protect the strays from abusive animal-haters.

The dog feeders have certain rights and they can't be stopped from feeding street animals with safe food; Article 51a of the Constitutional law of India speaks about the duties of every citizen of India. One of these duties includes having compassion for living creatures.

Anyone who threatens or intimidates any person taking care of dogs is liable for criminal intimidation under section 503 IPC and can be arrested without a warrant.

My dog is having seizures and convulsions continuously, what should I do to prevent this?

First, you must see what type of seizure it is. The most common kind is the generalised seizure, also called a grand mal seizure. A dog can lose consciousness and convulse. The abnormal electrical activity happens throughout the brain. Generalised seizures usually last from a few seconds to a few minutes. With a focal seizure, abnormal electrical activity happens in only part of the brain. Focal seizures can cause unusual movements in one limb or one side of the body. Also, the cause of the seizure must be known. It is commonly due to eating poison, liver disease, low or high blood sugar, kidney disease, electrolyte problems, anaemia, head injury, encephalitis, strokes and brain cancer.

In any case seizures are serious, the animal must be taken to the vet. During treatment; you may have to change their diet, keep them out of the water, keep them cool and avoid salty treats.

My doctor advises me to give away my dogs because I am pregnant. Is he right?

This was conventional thinking in the 90s. Now all scientists have found that keeping a dog during pregnancy, and after, guarantees that the baby will be healthier and less prone to allergies of any kind, or asthma.

Just train the dog not to jump on you when he is happy to see you. All the immunisations for your dog should be completed well before the pregnancy reaches its final trimester. For pregnant women, daily walks with your dog will allow you to get some air and stay active. This will reduce the risk of gaining weight and help to avoid complications during the birth. Having a dog during pregnancy will help you to stay positive, to be supported in a different way than by a human.

Is it ethical to euthanise a pet and is it legal?

If a dog is suffering, either from severe injuries from an accident, or a fatal disease, a vet can euthanise it to put the animal out of its suffering. They cannot put down healthy animals under the law.

What are the signs of depression in pet animals?

One of the core symptoms of depression is anhedonia, the decrease and loss of interest in pleasurable activities. We measure interest in food that animals like a lot. We also measure how they are interacting socially with other animals in the group, and changes in sleep patterns and daytime activities. Another behaviour that has been used frequently to measure animal depression is whether they readily give up when exposed to a stressful situation.

Is breeding of pets for making money legal?

Breeders and dog sellers must follow the rules under the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Dog Breeding and Marketing), 2017 — Under the new rules, every breeder must have a certificate of registration, issued after an inspection by the State Animal Welfare Board, and renewable every two years.

Individuals who have been convicted of any offence under the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act (or the Wildlife Protection Act) are not eligible to be registered as breeders, taking the worst offenders out of the system for good.

The State Animal Welfare Board now has the right to inspect any breeding establishment for any reason, including on the receipt of a complaint from the public.

If violators are found by the State Animal Welfare Board, then they can cancel licences and file Police complaints.

New regulations are that they specify that pups cannot be sold under the age of eight weeks.

Under the new rules, only vaccinated dogs, who meet certain health criteria, can be sold.

The new rules explicitly state that breeders should not display dogs in public places for immediate sale, which gives them time to counsel the purchasers to ensure they can take proper care of the dog.

The rules require the breeder to maintain records of all animals in the establishment, including the breeding dogs, also ensuring their welfare.

Breeders must now rehabilitate pups not sold within six months via an animal welfare organisation. They must also maintain a full record of the number of dogs which are born, or die, in their care. A veterinary doctor must record the cause of death, after conducting a post-mortem examination.

Inbreeding is not allowed. The new rules demand record-keeping.

Every time I take my dog out for a walk, he wants to dive right into a garbage bin, and disrupts the whole bin creating a lot of mess. I've tried different routes but the same thing happens. What should I do?

Trash potentially contains food items, or wrappers, that smell like food — and that's a powerful incentive for any dog. Some dogs develop a game of digging through the trash. Sometimes they find good stuff to eat, or fun things to chew on. When they are so engaged in sniffing out an interesting scent, they may scatter the refuse all around.

Try training your dog at home by teaching him the "leave it" command. First teach him to turn away, or back off, from your hand while you hold treats. Once the dog has learned the phrase, use it every time he goes near the trash. When he backs, or turns away, offer him praise or treats.

I have a feral street cat that I would like to adopt but I've been advised otherwise. I would like to adopt this cat, so can feral cats be adopted?

Adult feral cats are not socialised to people. They may look just like pets, but they are happier outdoors in groups, and they are usually too afraid of human contact to enjoy domestic life. As a result, they are likely to be poorly handled, killed or abandoned, if picked up by people. So, it is in their best interest to continue living outdoors. However, people interested in helping feral cats live, can feed them and create outdoor shelters for them to use during bad weather conditions. Additionally, feral kittens can still be adopted, with some amount of extra effort on your part to socialise them in their new surroundings.

Fervour, devotion mark Chamundeshwari Teppotsava

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (YDS&SD)- The Chamundeshwari Teppotsava was held amidst huge crowd of devotees at Devikere atop Chamundi Hill last night.

The rituals began yesterday morning at 10 am with Pallakki Utsava of the presiding deity Goddess Chamundeshwari, which passed through the Ratha Street in a procession and reached Devikere at 11 am.

Heavy rains, which began at 6.15 pm caused inconvenience to devotees visiting the hill shrine. The Teppotsava finally began at 7.30 pm. The magnificently decorated Teppa (float) with colourful lights made three rounds in Devikere tank till 8.15 pm. The devotees burst crackers and the Police Band played music on the occasion. After circumambulating Devikere three times, the idol of the presiding deity was placed in the Golden Pallakki and pujas and rituals were performed. Police had provided tight security on the occasion.

Unexpected heavy downpour, which began at 6.15 pm submerged the surrounding areas of the temple in rainwater. Devotees who had flocked in large numbers took shelter at nearby mantapas and other refuges. Later Rain God showed some mercy and the event began beyond schedule.

Toll Plaza on Nanjangud Highway

Workers take a break at the Nanjangud Toll Plaza after completing some works at the booth this morning.

Toll booth at Nanjangud

A Hyderabad-based agency has been handed over the contract of the toll collection for a period of three months. Gradually, the toll will be extended to the entire stretch of NH-766. The toll plaza for Nanjangud stretch has been built near K.N. Hundi village.

The 129.8 km Highway begins at Kozhikode in Kerala, passes through Kollegal and covers T. Narasipur, Mysuru, Nanjangud, Gundlupet, and reaches Sultan Batheri via Wayanad in Kerala. The NHAI has spent Rs. 498 crore for the project including the land acquisition cost of Rs. 170 crore. Like in K.N. Hundi, toll plazas have been set up at Kandegala village and at Yedathore on the stretch leading to T. Narasipur. The Nanjangud stretch is four-lane with a total width of 17 metres (8.5 metres on each side) and at places, the Highway has two lanes with a total width of 10 metres.

Toll on experimental basis

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, NHAI Assistant Executive Engineer Jagadeesh said that the toll will be collected on the Nanjangud stretch on an experimental basis from October-end. "It took such a long time as the contractor was asked to repair many places where the road was either damaged or broken at the sides. NHAI has set certain standards while constructing and maintaining the Highways," he said.

Minor works pending

On the toll booths lying idle since three years and broken signboards, Jagadeesh said that the booths will start functioning as only minor works are pending. "The direction boards and signboards have been repaired and restored, power connections will be given after a transformer is set up near the toll booth. We are waiting for final approval from NHAI heads," he said.

On the toll amount, Jagadeesh said that the toll will be collected on trial basis for three months. "We will first have to survey the vehicle density and then fix the toll amount. After Nanjangud, the toll will be extended to Gundlupet and T. Narasipur sectors," he added.

Electronic toll collection in Karnataka from April 1

FASTag will now be Vehicle Aadhaar

Bengaluru, Oct. 16 (KMS& BCT)- The use of FASTag will increase exponentially on National Highways from Dec. 1 this year, as toll plaza windows in all lanes of National Highways across the country will start accepting FASTag, the RFID chips on each vehicle. The present rule mandates at least one lane accepts FASTag.

This will change starting December when toll plazas transactions may become tedious for people paying by cash. A notification said that only one lane would be allowed to accept toll in cash mode. More than half of toll plazas located across National Highways have already converted all their lanes with technology that accept toll payments electronically through FASTag, the RFID tags with unique identification numbers for each vehicle.

In Karnataka, however, toll plazas on State Highways will have electronic toll collection system from April 1, 2020. This was announced by Deputy Chief Minister Govind M. Karajol in Bengaluru yesterday. Karajol, who also holds Public Works portfolio, told reporters here that the State Government had signed an MoU with the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) to implement the electronic tolling system.

At present, toll plazas on all 32 State Highways have the system of manual collection of toll. These toll plazas will be converted to electronic toll plazas, where users have to pay toll charges through electronic mode using FASTag, instead of cash. The works on converting the system from manual to electronic will be completed before April 2020.

FASTag is a simple-to-use, reloadable tag which enables automatic deduction of toll charges and lets vehicles pass the toll plaza, without stopping for cash transaction. Karajol said about Rs. 12 crore is required for integration of each toll plaza with FASTag and funds will be shared equally by the State and the Centre. There are 161 State Highways, covering 18,476 km, in the State, the DCM said.

The move will enable users to zoom through toll plazas on national highways by making payments electronically. Of the 527 toll plazas across National Highways, 380 got FASTag in all lanes, while more lanes are being made FASTag-enabled.

Use of FASTag will lower queuing time at toll plazas. This will also be good from a security perspective for the Home Ministry as the details of the person in the vehicle as well as who is travelling from where to where will also be available.

World Food Day 2019: Our Actions Our Future

Mysuru, Oct.16 (RKB&SD)- World Food Day, along with National Women Farmers Day, was celebrated at Karnataka Institute of Agriculture Marketing auditorium on Hunsur Road in city this morning.

The event had been organised by Zilla Panchayat (ZP), Department of Agriculture, and Agricultural Technology Management Agency, in association with JSS Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Suttur.

Vice-Chancellor of Central Agricultural University, Manipur Prof. S. Ayyappan inaugurated the event. Joint Director of Agriculture, Mysuru Dr. M. Mahanteshappa presided over the gathering.

Speaking after inaugurating the event, Prof. Ayyappan quoted Mahatma Gandhi and said, "To a hungry man a piece of bread is the face of God. Current climate change has become a challenge to the whole humanity. Considerable number of women and children in the world are suffering from malnutrition. If we consider Global Hunger Index (GHI), which measures hunger at global, regional and national levels, India has slipped to 102nd place out of 117 countries. Average annual income of large number of farmers is just one lakh. 50% farming community involve women folks."

Emphasising on measures to be taken for a better world, he said: "in order to help our farming community, we need to think about value addition, processing and conservation (Samvardhane, Samskarane and Samrakshane) of available food resources. Besides being extremely nutritious, millets consume less water. Sustainable agriculture should be given priority in today's world."

The event highlighted the theme of World Food Day 2019 'Our Actions Our Future' along with other meaningful slogans including 'Healthier Food Choices for Hunger Free World.'

Dean of Yelachenahalli College of Horticulture Dr. G. Janardhan was the chief guest. Indiramma Nagabhushanaradhya, a progressive farmer from Hanumanahalli of K.R. Nagar, delivered a speech on the occasion. Senior Scientist and Head of JSS Krishi Vigyan Kendra-Suttur Dr. Arun Balamatti, Project Director of ATMA Dr. D.S. Somashekar and K.R. Krishnaiah were present.

Ayodhya case hearing ends today

"Can I have your permission to tear it," Dhavan said to the judges. He acted after Vikas Singh, the lawyer for the All India Hindu Mahasabha, tried to place a publication by Kunal Kishore as evidence during his arguments claiming ownership of the disputed land.

"The Supreme Court should not rely on this book," Dhavan said, requesting "permission" to tear it up. "You do what you want," replied Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi. When the pages were torn, the judges threatened to walk off. "Decorum has been spoiled, decorum is not maintained. If proceedings continue in this manner, we would just get up and walk out," said the Chief Justice.

CJI cancels foreign trip

Reports said that CJI Ranjan Gogoi has reportedly decided to cancel a multi-nation official foreign visit this month, apparently to make sure there is enough time to write the judgment in this case and deliver it before he retires.

CJI Gogoi was set to fly out to Dubai on Oct.18 before proceeding to Cairo, Brazil and New York. He was scheduled to return on Oct.31. The Supreme Court will be closed for a Deepavali break from Oct.27 to Nov.3.

Kodagu SP admits daughter to Anganwadi

Madikeri, Oct.16 (PS&VNS)- While majority of officials admit their children to study in educational institutions of repute, Kodagu SP Suman D. Pennekar has set an example by admitting her two-year-six-month-old daughter Kushi to an anganwadi centre located near Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa College, here.

SP Suman wanted Khushi to start her education by learning Kannada, her mother tongue, and hence admitted her to the anganwadi kendra.

The SP's daughter takes part actively in all activities and also receives food everyday like other children of the kendra.

"Khushi, apart from taking part in all activities, enjoys every moment spent with other 17 children at the kendra," said Anaganawadi Teacher Neetu.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Saraswathi Pennekar, SP Suman Pennekar's mother, said that it is important to see that Khushi does not develop the feeling of being a daughter to an influential officer. Instead, she must mingle with other children and pick up good values and ethics from Government institutions like the anganwadi centres.

SP Suman, who drops Khushi to the centre every day, also spends time with other children while she comes to pick her from the centre.

A qualified Ayurvedic Doctor, Suman, is a native of Beedi village in Belagavi district. The 2013-batch IPS officer took charge as Kodagu SP in May, 2018.

Meanwhile, the photograph of SP Suman taking a selfie with her daughter and children at the anganwadi centre had gone viral. She has also been receiving appreciation from all corners of the society for her affection towards mother tongue and Government institutions.

Sugarcane growers urge factories to lift cane

Mysuru, Oct.16 (RKB&US)- Farmers, under the aegis of State Sugarcane Growers Association and other farmers' organisations, staged a protest in front of the DC's office here this morning urging the Government to intervene as Bannari Amman Sugars and Mahadeshwara Sugar Factor had failed to cut and transport the sugarcane to their factories as per the agreement.

The farmers alleged that the cane was ready for cutting three months ago and drying with the said factories remaining silent.

They alleged that the said two factories were buying cane from other districts violating the agreement. The farmers later submitted a memorandum to the Additional DC.

Association State Organising Secretary Devaraj, District President Somashekar, Working President Bhagyaraj and Gen. Secretary Shankar led the protest.

MLA S.R. Mahesh accepts Vishwanath's challenge

Ready for truth test atop Ch.Hill tomorrow

S.R. Mahesh A.H. Vishwanath

Mysuru, Oct.16 (PM&US)- Accepting the dare thrown by disqualified MLA A.H. Vishwanath, MLA S.R. Mahesh expressed his readiness to appear for a truth test at Chamundi Hill Temple tomorrow at 9 am and prove that all the allegations levelled against him by Vishwanath was baseless and wrong.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here this morning, Mahesh ridiculed all the bitter criticisms levelled against him by Vishwanath.

He said that he was not against any political criticism but expressed annoyance over personal allegations. He further said that Vishwanath too had entered real estate business and asserted that he (Vishwanath) would not be the candidate for by-election in Hunsur.

Continuing, Mahesh questioned the rationale behind Vishwanath inspecting development works recently. He said that Vishwanath is harping on creating Hunsur district and opined that CM was a better judge to decide on that.

Mandya MP Sumalatha seeks ladies-only train

Sumalatha

Mandya, Oct.16 - Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish has urged the Railway Ministry to launch special ladies-only train between Bengaluru and Mysuru route. Mandya MP has put forth her suggestion at a meeting held at the Bengaluru Divisional Railway Manager's office on Monday.

"A special train for ladies would facilitate better commuting experience and assure safety of women. Such a measure would encourage many more to work in bigger cities like Bengaluru," said Mandya MP Sumalatha. She told that she has also written to Union Railway Minister Piyush Goyal and MoS for Railways Suresh Angadi in this regard.

"Every day, around 4,000-5,000 women commute between Mysuru and Bengaluru. At present, additional two ladies-only coaches added to regular trains are not sufficient. As a result, a number of women are forced to travel with mixed crowd causing lot of inconvenience to them. A ladies-only train would assure safety as well as provide reassurance to their families," she informed.

Capturing listeners...

By Dr. Rama V. Bennur

The two recent music programmes held in Mysuru were very pleasing, impressive and worth remembering. One was a veena recital and the other was a lecture-demonstration. Ganabharathi and Gayana Sabha were the organisers respectively.

Vidu. Mysore Rajalakshmi played veena at Veene Seshanna Bhavana on the 27th of September accompanied by Vid. C. Cheluvaraju on mridanga and Vid. S. Manjunath on ghata.

Rajalakshmi belongs to the School Veena Seshanna. She is the disciple of Vid. M.J. Shrinivasa Iyengar, who was Veena Venkatagiriyappa's shishya. (Venkatagiriyappa was a direct disciple of Seshanna).

This program was in memory of Vid. Swaramurthy V.N. Rao, grandson of Veene Seshanna. Swaramurthy, a vainika and a gayaka, was an accomplished pianist too. A diploma holder in western music from the Trinity College of Music, London, he has the credit of composing a 'Saptha Thaleshwari Varna' too.

Rajalakshmi began the concert with the same Varna in Shankarabharana Raga. Her prelude to the Varna confirmed the Mysuru style of playing that was to follow. The Varna had rich touches of Western chords in the swaras that were played perfectly by her.

After paying obeisance to Lord Vighnesha in 'Panamamyaham Shri Gowrisutham' (Gowla - Mysore Vasudevacharya) and decorating it with rare pattern of Kalpanaswaras, Rajalakshmi continued to play the evergreen composition of Muthuswami Dikshitar 'Akhilandeshwari' in the Raga Dwijavanthi.

Seshanna has composed Keerthanas in rare ragas. One such is 'Ubhaya Kaveri Ranga' in Gamanashrama. Rajalakshmi mesmerised the audience with her calm and composed delineation of the raga. The raga bhava was expressed very well in the phrases in the lower octave. Totally, a majestic ragalapana in which, every note was emotionally charged. The Kruthi was decorated with bright and vibrant kalpanaswaras.

The main raga of the day was Rishabhapriya. This 62nd Melakarta raga has a beautiful combination of swaras that has a tranquillising effect. Rajalakshmi's mood was apt for it and both the alapana and the taana did create a serene effect. Mysore Vasudevacharya's composition 'Mahathmule Teliyaleru Rama' was the right choice. The soft strokes by Cheluvaraju enhanced the musical experience. Cheluvaraju is one of the rare artistes who has mastered the technique of playing mridanga for a soft instrument like veena. It was a pleasure listening to his muktayas. The Taniavarthana between him and Manjunath was enjoyable.

Vidu. Mysore Rajalakshmi presenting a veena concert at Veene Seshanna Bhavana on Sept.27. She is accompanied by Vid. C. Cheluvaraju on mridanga and Vid. S. Manjunath on ghata.

Pt. Indudhar Nirody presenting a lecture-demonstration at 'Kalpa Kshetra' in Vijayanagar 1st Stage on Sept.26.

Rajalakshmi ended the concert with a few Tukdas like 'Hari chitthasatya' (Jonpuri), 'Sri Ram Jayaram' (Sindhubhairavi) and a Kanadathillana by Veene Seshanna. The concert was a good tribute to a musician.

Lecture-Demonstration

'Gayana Sabha,' the institution that encourages Hindustani music, had organised a lecture-demonstration at 'Kalpa Kshetra,' the newly established auditorium in Vijayanagar 1st Stage on the 26th of September.

Pandit Indudhar Nirody, the senior most Hindustani musician of Mysuru, enlightened the music-lovers with his lecture-demonstration on 'Chalan in Hindustani music.'

Pt. Nirody is one of the rare Gurus who is ever ready to part with his vast knowledge. His concerts are the best example for this.

There are certain rules in presenting the ragas in Hindustani music just as in Karnatak music. 'Chalan' and 'Pakkad' are included in them. They are the factors which define and decide the movement of notes in a particular rag.

Though different ragas derive from the same 'Thaat,' they differ in the 'chalans.' Some ragas, despite having the same scale, are identified with their 'chalan.' Such is the importance of chalan in North Indian music.

Pt. Nirody had chosen Rag Puryadhanasri and Purvi to begin his lecture-demonstration. He explained very clearly and accurately how the cluster of notes like 'marigaa-risa' changes its effect totally when it becomes (sung) 'maa-rigarisa.'

He also sang two bandish 'Payaliyajhankar' and 'Banata-banaavo ban nahiaave' for the pleasure of rasikas.

He explained the characteristic feature of Indian music in using the notes. Notes always are sung with the support of another note.

The artiste should be well aware of its usage, like how lengthy or short it should be, how much of stress to be given, to make it more attractive.

The definite methodology of expanding a rag that is prevalent in Dhrupad style of singing was demonstrated by Panditji.

Sthayi-antara-sanchari and aabhog are the four steps in developing a rag which was clearly demonstrated. It was interesting to note the entry of 'Jhala,' the instrumental technique influenced the vocal music too. It was adapted by vocalists and has blended beautifully.

Another interesting point he explained was how the natural notes like Pancham and Shadja in aaroha loses their importance in the presence of Teevramadhyam and Nishada respectively.

He demonstrated it in Rag Yaman. Rag Bhoopali and Deskaar both have the same notes. But their Varnan or combination differ. While Bhoopali developed itself in aarohivarnan and uses more of Kalyaniang and must be sung in the evening, Deskar has Belavalang and avarohan is imporatant and is a morning rag. Pt. Nirody said that the artiste should be sensitive enough to be aware of many nuances like which note to be used to glide from, the pause between the notes and the amount of force to be given to a note. All these are inseparable parts of the Chalan in a rag.

He chose Rag Lalith to demonstrate the different classes among notes (Kanswara). This may be in a single rag or different Ragas. He ended the session with a wonderful rendering of Rag Darbari.

Thanks to Gayana Sabha for arranging such an informative and educative programme.

India Vs Pakistan, Davis Cup Tie

AITA to begin process to procure Pakistan Visas for players

Mysuru, Oct.16- The All India Tennis Association (AITA) on Tuesday decided to begin the process to procure Pakistan visas for its players and support staff, indicating that it may send a team to the neighbouring nation for next month's Davis Cup tie in case the International Tennis Federation (ITF) rejects its request to shift the matches to a neutral venue.

It has been learnt that the AITA won't force any player to travel to Pakistan and is willing to send even a second-string team to avoid suspension, relegation and fine by the ITF.

If the ITF itself shifts the tie a neutral venue, all top players are expected to make themselves available except Prajnesh Gunneswaran, who is getting married on November 29, the opening day of matches.

The tie was originally scheduled to be held in Islamabad on Sept.14-15 but was postponed to Nov. 29-30 by the ITF after a security review.

The AITA is consistently writing to the world governing body to shift the tie to a neutral venue, citing security concerns.

AITA's office-bearers assembled on Tuesday at the DLTA for a meeting, also attended by Bhupathi, and decided to at least start the visa process and keep pushing for a neutral venue.

A decision is expected on Nov.4 and depending on that the AITA will make a call. A few players and non-playing captain Mahesh Bhupathi have already expressed apprehensions about travelling to Pakistan.

"A lot can change in the next 20 days. But AITA has to send team because AITA can't afford to pay a hefty fine for forfeiting the tie. It could be least Rs.1 crore. And the team will could be suspended and then relegated. So it will take four years to be at the level where we stand today. This is not good for future generation of players," the source said.

As of now India are at a stage where if it beats Pakistan, which is the most likely result considering the strength of the hosts, the team will advance to the Davis Cup Qualifiers.

From Qualifiers, the Indian team has a chance to make the newly-introduced World Groups. But if the team forfeits the tie, India could be handed a suspension of one or two years and relegated to Asia/Oceania Group III.

Tendulkar and Lara will be joined by former players including India's Virender Sehwag, Australian Brett Lee, Sri Lankan Tillakaratne Dilshan and South Africa's Jonty Rhodes for the tournament from Feb.2-16 across India.

Tendulkar, 46, is the world's leading scorer in Tests and One-Day Internationals (ODIs), amassing more than 34,000 runs and 100 centuries in a 24-year career that ended in 2013.

In 2008, Tendulkar surpassed Lara's record for most Test runs with the West Indies left-hander having made 11,953 in the longest format of the game before retiring from international cricket in 2007.

Separate Hostel to be built for University Ph.D students

Mysuru, Oct.16 (SBD&DM)- Days after men's hostel students of University of Mysore (UoM) staged a snap stir in the University campus seeking better civic amenities and quality food, the University has decided to build a separate hostel for the University's Ph.D students.

With more than 1,300 Ph.D students enrolled with the University, the Ph.D Research Students Association had demanded an exclusive hostel.

At present, Ph.D students are staying at old and new PG hostel buildings in Manasagangothri. Now, the University authorities have decided to build a new hostel with 75 rooms at the space close to the new PG hostel, which will ease the pressure on other University hostels, which are at present crowded.

The University plans to float tenders for the construction of the new hostel in December.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar said that the University Syndicate has adopted a resolution to construct an exclusive hostel for Ph.D students. Now, tenders will be invited and the contractor will be asked to finish the works in nine months, he said and added that efforts will be made to ensure that the hostel will be open before the start of the next academic year.

WORD OF THE DAY

Hegemony

Pronunciation: hih-JEM-uh-nee.
Meaning: Preponderant influence or authority over others : domination; the social, cultural, ideological, or economic influence exerted by a dominant group.
Origin: Hegemony comes to English from the Greek hēgemonia, a noun formed from the verb hēgeisthai ("to lead"), which also gave us the word exegesis (meaning "exposition" or "explanation"). Hegemony was first used in English in the mid-16th century in reference to the control once wielded by the ancient Greek states, and it was reapplied in later centuries as other nations subsequently rose to power. By the 19th century, it had acquired a second sense referring to the social or cultural influence wielded by a dominant member over others of its kind, such as the domination within an industry by a business conglomerate over smaller businesses.
Example: "According to Chinese analysts' telling of World War II, the Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931 and the invasion of China proper in 1937 were part of the U.S. strategy to pit the two Asian nations against each other in an endless war that would prevent either from rising to threaten American hegemony in the western Pacific." — Michael Pillsbury

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Heard it on the grapevine

Meaning: To hear or learn of something through an informal means of communication, especially gossip; to hear rumours about something; to hear some news from someone who heard it from someone else.

Origin: This phrase comes originally from an American Civil War expression, when news was said to be passed 'by grapevine telegraph.' After the invention of the telegraph in the mid 1800s, the term "grapevine telegraph" was coined for rapid communication of news by word of mouth in closely knit communities, who were usually the rural poor and lived near grapevines, as they grew grapes. This exact phrase came into use around the mid 1900s and was a reference to the term "grapevine telegraph" coined earlier.
Examples: I heard on the grapevine that he was being promoted, but I don't know anything further. It was heard through the grapevine that the captain of the team was stepping down, but the news could not be confirmed. We keep hearing it on the grapevine that the two co-stars of that movie are getting married, but they are not saying anything.

QUOTE BOX

People pretend not to like grapes when the vines are too high for them to reach. —Marguerite de Navarre
